HEMINGFORD

Interesting, Snappy News of Our Sister City

By Special Correspondent

W. C. Heelan, attorney at Mullen, Nebr., but formerly an employe of the Burlington, dropped off No. 44 to pay his respects to the local agent.

Miss Ella Brown departed Tuesday for a brief visit with her mother, at Alliance.

The proposed railroad from Hemingford to Sioux county, near Canton or Curly, which has been such a source of enthusiastic conversation for the past week or ten days, has reached the stage where plans are being made for several mass meetings of citizens at the other end of the line, to be held soon. This we understand is to get the proposition into tangible form, as the interest is now so great that it only awaits systematic planning to bring results.

M. L. Hawkins, of Canton, was a city visitor Tuesday and Wednesday, on his way to his home on the Northwestern, where he will visit his parents.

The ghost of Yorrick, or Yorrick's ghost, had to take a temporary setback in favor of our own product in Sand canon north of town. While we have received many evidences of its authenticity there are those who have the temerity to assure us that it did not belong to the spiritual world at all. In fact, they go on to say that they have located the two steel traps that Bill Delsing lost, fastened to the off hind leg of a handicapped coyote and this they say was our ghostly neighbor. Of course, we are slow to believe this, because a nice healthy ghost in a community creates considerable interest, not to say excitement, and when they endeavor to clutch the argument by saying the canny light that was visible was produced by the moon's reflection on the animal's eyes (and, as we have no record of anybody seeing it but on moonlight nights), and further, as the rattling of the chains can be explained through the presence of Bill's traps, it puts us in a bad fix, for we still want our ghost.

Mrs. John Kovarnik, who was visiting in Alliance, returned home on No. 43 Sunday.

Mrs. Jim Hollnake returned on 43 Sunday from a visit in the eastern part of the state.

The first real snow storm of the winter occurred Tuesday and that night, leaving behind a mantle of whiteness, together with some frigidly, that reminds us of the good old fashioned winters of long ago.

Operator A. L. Powell was an Edgemont, S. D., visitor Saturday, where he participated in the regular meeting of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, which was held at that point. He reports one of the best meetings on record, both in the number in attendance and enthusiasm.

James Blundell, who unfortunately had his leg broken several months ago, is able to get around again. He was a recent visitor to the city and while crutches are not becoming to him we are, nevertheless, glad to know he is able to get about, even with that handicap.

Dr. W. M. Lee, of Alliance, made a flying automobile trip to the city Sunday to inspect a car of cattle for H. Goding, who shipped them to Custer, S. D.

C. E. Wiltsey recently returned from Waukesha, Wis., with two cars of Guernsey cattle, having purchased them in that vicinity. It is the purpose of those interested in the local creamery at this point to do everything possible to stimulate the milk and cream production this year, and the purchase of the Guerneys is the first and most effective move in this direction.

Mrs. Frank Hoagland is reported quite sick.

John W. Thomas, of the county seat, was a visitor in our midst Sunday and Monday, leaving for Crawford on the latter date.

VICTIM OF SCARLET FEVER AND DIPHTHERIA

The home of Mrs. J. F. Richards was saddened last Friday when little Bernita, the twin sister of Wanda Wykoff, was called from this earth. Age, 4 years, 9 months and 10 days. The little one was taken severely ill and became unconscious from the start. Later diphtheria took hold, and this was more than she could endure.

Bernita was a bright and loving child, and was loved by all. This was indeed a sad loss to the mother and family, and being under absent, a large number of floral offerings were sent. Also, sympathy was shown by a number of deeds of kindness done.

Bernita is not dead, but sleeping. Safe in the arms of Jesus' keeping; Calling friends and mamma dear, Not to weep, she's waiting here. God is calling, one by one, His will, not ours, will be done.

CARD OF THANKS

To the friends, members of the Christian church, the I. O. O. F. lodge and Royal Neighbors who so kindly sent flowers to lighten my sorrow in the loss of my darling baby. Mrs. J. F. RICHARDS and family.

The "Know Omaha" campaign, which attracted much favorable comment for Nebraska and Omaha last year will be revived again this year. It is planned to go a step further this year and organize a KNOW NEBRASKA campaign. Co-operation of state organizations will be asked by the Bureau of Publicity of Omaha to the end that Nebraskans will be better acquainted with their state.

High schools of New York, which are teaching Nebraska to the students there, are loud in their praise of the state. Manager Parrish of the Bureau of Publicity of Omaha has received numerous letters from the principals of the New York schools, requesting further information about the state.
